

CLASS 6

NEW POSITION Ocean Wave

Dancers are in a wavy line facing alternating directions

The position is considered similar to Facing Couples
Calls typical to that position, may be called from a wave

CALLS Alamo Style:

Starts with an Allemande Left, but as you finish the turn, hang onto the left forearm of your corner as you reach for the right forearm of your partner. You'll end up with the corner in your left hand and your partner in your right. It is a ring of people in a wave with alternating people facing in and out of the ring. From here, a Swing Thru could be done with everyone able to turn by BOTH the right and the left.

Swing Thru: Turn half by the right if you can and half by the left if you can.

Left Swing Thru: Turn half by the left if you can and half by the right if you can.

Step to a Wave: From Facing Couples, you step forward toward the person opposite you and take right hands. The two center dancers also take left hands together.

DoSaDo to a Wave: Do a DoSaDo and let that rotation toward your left at the end slide you into an Ocean Wave.

Run: Run means you walk forward in a tight little half circle to take the adjacent dancer's spot. When finished you'll be facing in the opposite direction from when you started. The person whose spot is being commandeered gets out of the way by sliding into the vacated spot left empty by the person doing the Run. Sliding people do not change direction.

Circle to a Line: Begins with Facing Couples. You have an outside couple facing in and an inside couple facing out. All join hands and circle left half way. The left hand dancer (boy) who began the call on the inside facing out drops the hand of the woman ahead of him and walks straight to form a line. The woman whose hand was dropped is the end of the line, and instead of having to back up into position, she walks under the raised arm with her partner.
